I am a self-driven individual who strives to give my best in every task I am assigned. I am friendly and approachable, I eagerly engage with new people and build strong professional relationships with ease. I am professional, punctual, and a fast, efficient learner. I have recently completed my Diploma in Information Technology (Software Development) at Nelson Mandela University, and I am excited to apply my skills in the field. Dynamic and adaptable, I work well in high-pressure environments, maintaining focus and productivity under stress. I am articulate, well-spoken, and capable of communicating my ideas clearly and effectively, with a strong ability to think on my feet.
